

Ike Will Sign Tax Cut Bill

Says He Believes It Will Stimulate Business Despite Upset In Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he will sign the 999 million dollar excise tax cut bill and believes it will help stimulate business.

The President told his news conference he will put his signature to the measure later in the day. He added he has every reason to believe enactment of the tax reduction will be a stimulating factor in the American economy.

Eisenhower decided to sign the bill into law—the cuts will be effective tomorrow—even though it throws his budget for the next year a billion dollars deeper in the red.

The measure shot through Congress yesterday in compromise form, with a House vote of 395-1 and a Senate tally of 72-8. It cuts excise, or sales, taxes on dozens of products ranging from refrigerators to phone bills. It means savings for just about every person who spends money.

Eisenhower told his news conference the cuts voted by Congress will reduce government revenue very considerably more than he recommended.

He added that he recognized, however, that the whole field is one that is open to discussion. And he said the cut probably will have a great effect toward stimulation of business.

For that reason the President said he accepts the reduction wholeheartedly. He said he hopes that any possible damaging effects of the bill will be kept to a minimum.

The President then said he wanted to point out that, with the excise tax reduction, the administration will have put into effect the greatest single reduction in taxes from a dollar standpoint that has ever been accomplished.

He put the total at $7,400,000,000 so far this year, starting with a 10 per cent cut in income taxes which went into effect Jan. 1.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, dispelled whatever lingering doubts there were about the President's attitude by commenting late yesterday: "He'll probably sign it tomorrow morning."

There was evidence that most of the cuts would be passed along to consumers, providing a stimulus to retail trade in many lines.

General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp. announced that their home appliances would be reduced by the amount of the tax reduction and the Philco Corp. and the Crosley and Bendix Divisions of Avco Manufacturing Corp. indicated they would follow suit. So did other makers of home laundry machines.

Jewelry and fur dealers already had said they would be glad to give the tax savings to their customers.

Only in the case of the movies did it appear that the consumer would not get the full benefit. Many theater owners have said they face bankruptcy under competition from television in the home. But trade sources said recently some movie houses would cut their prices by the amount of the tax cut.

The measure also saves $1,077,000,000 in revenue by extending for another year increases in major excises voted in 1951 after the Korean War started. These involve autos, trucks, gasoline, cigarettes, liquor, wine and beer.

Extend Rail Freight Rate Cuts On Hay

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A 50 per cent cut in rail freight rates on drought emergency hay due to end today, has been extended until April 30.

Gov. Phil M. Donnelly was advised yesterday the main western roads serving Missouri have agreed voluntarily to the extension in view of the legislature's action last week in appropriating extra money to complete the hay shipping program.

The governor also announced that the federal government has agreed to pay $5.50 a ton on hay freight as its share, instead of $4. At the same time he asked Agriculture Secretary Benson to release the final $354,000 allotment of the $1,604,000 of federal aid pledged to Missouri to date.

GOP Ready to Ram Through Taft-Hartley Law Revision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican majority on the Senate Labor Committee was ready today to ram through a Taft-Hartley law revision bill that generally follows the recommendations of President Eisenhower.

Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) told newsmen in advance of a Labor Committee meeting that the bill probably would incorporate all but one of Eisenhower's 14 recommendations.

He said he has given up hope of winning approval of the President's proposal for a secret, government-sponsored poll of workers when a labor dispute enters the strike stage. He said he will try to get this plan written into the bill when it reaches the Senate floor, probably within two weeks.

He said in an interview he expects the group's six Democrats to vote together against sending the labor bill to the Senate. But the seven Republicans on the committee were expected to override them.

Before a vote on the bill itself, the committee had to pass on a newly drafted proposal to give the states and territories more powers to handle labor-management disputes. Smith said he was confident of its approval.

This proposal, reportedly written by Sen. Lister Hill (R-TN), would give the National Labor Relations Board the right to yield jurisdiction.

H-Blast Film Not to Scare, But to Inform All Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil Defense Chief V. J. Peterson said today the government will show the American people a film of the pioneer 1952 hydrogen blast not "to scare them nor encourage hopelessness" but to furnish basic facts they must have "about such new and terrible weapons."

Peterson said this as he formally announced that the Federal Civil Defense Administration (FCDA) will release the 26-minute censored motion picture film for use after 8 p. m. (EST) on Wednesday, April 1. The White House said last week its release had been approved by the National Security Council.

The picture is titled "Operation Ivy," the code name applied to the 1952 test in the Atomic Energy Commission's Marshall Islands proving grounds in the mid-Pacific. It was that test explosion of a "thermonuclear device" that reportedly destroyed a mile-wide island and gouged a deep hole in the floor of the Pacific.

There have been two announced hydrogen blasts in the Marshalls since, the gigantic detonation of an actual usable weapon March 1 and an explosion of undisclosed force and effect last Friday.

Peterson said the picture is being released "as a means of keeping the American people informed about the effects of nuclear weapons, and the civil defense measures necessary to protect our communities against them in the event of an enemy attack on the United States."

The State Department said the British and French ambassadors had been informed of the Dulles speech in advance of delivery, but that it did not reflect the views of all three governments.

In his prepared speech, Sen. Douglas proposed that the President immediately "request the support and cooperation of Australia, New Zealand, Indonesia, Japan, the Philippines and other Far East nations in resisting aggression."

The table on which the food was served had three lighted red tapers and greenery at one end and an attractive arrangement of red carnations, the doctor's flower, at the other end. Carrying out the idea of the mode of transportation used by the doctors 50 years ago (when Dr. A. J. Campbell, Dr. D. P. Dyer and others first started practice) were miniature horses and buggies that were placed at intervals along the speaker's table. In between were arrangements of red carnations combined with two red taper candles.

On each of the round tables, at which other guests were seated, were crystal bowls with red carnations.

Clever indeed were the place-cards, designed and cut by Mrs. J. W. Boger and pasted by Mrs. E. C. Snavely. They were in the form of the small black bags carried by the doctors and had the names on them in gold. For the women, the placecards were black with and with an orchid seal in the corner. At each place were mint cups with candies that looked like pills and capsules. Mrs. Carl Siegel was also on the committee for the decorations.

A table at the end of the room gave a bit of the history of doctors. (Please turn to Page 4, Column 5)

Doctors Are Honored Tuesday Night at Doctors' Day Banquet

Doctors' Day, for members of the Pettis County Medical Association, ended with a flourish and lots of fun when members of the Auxiliary to the Pettis County Medical Association entertained with a buffet dinner Tuesday evening in the Ambassador Room of the Bothwell Hotel.

The speaker began his talk with the history of the city manager form of government in Kansas City. He explained, "Kansas City inaugurated this type of government in 1926 and from then until 1940 the city manager was a stooge of political organizations. In 1940 it became the type of government it was arranged to be."

"I'll tell you my ideas," he said. "I made a study of it as well as getting experience in it. I am a person who appreciates and values it," Mr. Richardson said.

When I first went to Kansas City from the University of Kansas where I was Professor in economics, I asked for a leave of absence. At that time I was asked, 'Why do you want a leave of absence?' to which I answered, 'Because I do not know if I will like this.' As time passed, I studied it through my own personal experience, I like it and appreciate the value of this form.

"I have no ambitions to become a city manager, and what I have to say tonight is my sincere honest opinion from my own personal experience as a part of the Kansas City form of government. When I first took over my office in my department, and it was like the others, there were some changes necessary. We kept the competent employees, and when we found it necessary to remove the incompetent employees, we had threats and there were some mighty hard days. But as time rolled along everything turned out for the best."

"Under this form of government you have the merit system for employees. With this type of system you will always have competent employees," he said.

He went on to say a city manager who has a good council can save many times over his own salary, provide more and better services to the public, give the city

Wholesale Food Price Index Reaches Peak For Figures Since '16

NEW YORK (AP) — Wholesale food prices as measured by Dun & Bradstreet climbed this week to their highest point since the agency started keeping records in 1916.

At $7.42, the index was up 17.4 per cent from the same week of 1933, when it stood at $6.32. It compared with $7.34 last week and with the previous high of $7.36 on July 13, 1948.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in common use.

Thinks US Should Prepare For the Worst In Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) asserted today the United States ought to "get ready for the worst" by enlisting forces of Pacific free nations to fight Communists in Indochina if they are needed.

Douglas, a Marine officer in World War II, called for support of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles in seeking what Dulles called "united action" to prevent Communist conquest in Southeast Asia.

"I do not know what measures this administration plans," Douglas said in a speech prepared for the Senate. "I do not know what measures will prove to be necessary."

The State Department said the British and French ambassadors had been informed of the Dulles speech in advance of delivery, but that it did not reflect the views of all three governments.

In his prepared speech, Sen. Douglas proposed that the President immediately "request the support and cooperation of Australia, New Zealand, Indonesia, Japan, the Philippines and other Far East nations in resisting aggression."

The rebels, who have been rounding up thousands of guerrilla fighters to bolster their elite troops around Dien Bien Phu, hit first at the eastern defenses and then at points along the southern edge of the perimeter.

French Resist Charges

Hurl Back Repeated Attacks by Screaming Vietminh Troops. Try Counter-Attacks

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French high command said tonight the Vietminh lost 1,350 killed today in a series of attacks against Dien Bien Phu. The fortified plain was reported still firmly in French Union hands.

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The defenders of Dien Bien Phu hurled back attack after attack from screaming Vietminh shock troops early today, interspersing savage counterattacks of their own.

The French high command announced at noon that the garrison was holding all its positions.

Rested and regrouped after the beating they took in their initial assaults on the fortress in mid-March, the Communist rebels opened their second offensive on the heels of a violent artillery barrage.

Thousands of wildly yelling rebel troops sprang from foxholes and trenches ringing the dusty, hill-rimmed valley of Dien Bien Phu and charged toward the maze of barbed wire barricades guarding the French trenches, dugouts and air strip.

Hurling grenades, firing machineguns, rifles and pistols, the Vietminh raced into sheets of fire from the American-supplied guns manned by a garrison including Frenchmen, North Africans, Foreign Legionnaires, Vietnamese and pro-French Thai tribesmen.

Tanks, artillery, mortars and heavy machineguns cut the rebel ranks.

No Dangerously Radioactive Fish In Pacific Waters

TOKYO (AP) — A highly qualified American scientist said today he is certain there are no dangerously radioactive fish in the Pacific—even in waters around the Bikini atomic proving grounds.

The top-level atomic scientist talked with newsmen only after specifying that he not be named. His statement came after a Japanese official indicated that Japan might ask the United States to find a new testing grounds if a survey indicated explosions in the Bikini area jeopardize fishing and shipping.

Deputy Prime Minister Takekura Ogata told a Diet committee the survey is under way.

The American scientist told newsmen the 23 Japanese fishermen burned by a shower of radioactive ashes after the March 1 hydrogen explosion at Bikini now are in "the critical stage" but there is a good chance all will recover completely.

He said one of the fishermen has developed leucopenia, a condition in which his body fails to produce sufficient white blood cells. Two others are less seriously ill, he said, and "the next couple of weeks" will settle the fate of the men.

He denied reports that the first blast, which exposed a number of Americans, Japanese and Marshall Islanders far from the explosion scene to "hot" ashes, went out of control.

"It was a stupendous blast," Strauss said. "But at no time was the testing out of control."

He said the power of the explosion was about twice what scientists had expected—a margin of error not unusual, he added, in testing "a totally new weapon."

An unexpected shift in the wind carried atomic particles to the area where a Japanese fishing trawler was cruising, Strauss added.

Strauss said the tests bring the commission "very much nearer" to satisfying the requirements of the armed forces and, hasten the day when AEC can devote more attention to developing peacetime uses of atomic energy.

President Eisenhower listened with keen attention as Strauss—just back from the Pacific tests—read four-page statement and then answered a few questions.

In reply to one question, Strauss said, without qualification, that an H-bomb large enough to "take out" a city can be made.

"How big a city?" he was asked. "Any city," Strauss replied.

"New York?" a reporter pressed.

Strauss nodded and said, "the metropolitan area."

Eisenhower himself said earlier there is some possibility the Russians are getting ready to talk business about a plan for international peacetime use of atomic energy.

He made this statement when asked what significance the government attaches to the recent publication by the Russians of some details of their atomic and H-weapon research.

The President said he didn't know—but that many discussions have been held and the result is inconclusive.

There are some, he went on, apparently meaning some of his advisers, who think this indicates a change in Soviet policy and a disposition to negotiate earnestly and honestly.

He said this certainly would be welcomed in the light of his proposal last January that the western powers and Russia get together on a limited peacetime atomic development pool.

Strauss' statement plainly was aimed at soothing some of the unrest stirred up in Britain and elsewhere by the recent H-bomb tests.

He stressed that this country makes no tests "without a definite purpose," and without seeking "an end result of major importance to our military strength and readiness."

"It should also be noted," he said, "that the testing of weapons is important likewise in order to be fully aware of the possible future aggressive ability of an enemy, for we now fully know that we possess no monopoly of capability in this awesome field."

Strauss said there have been "exaggerated and mistaken" descriptions of the March 1 test.

Secretary of Defense Wilson yesterday described this one as "unbelievable." Strauss said he thought that word has been "played up" in the papers more than the secretary intended.

Zander Sells Rent-All Firm To C. W. Jett

John F. Zander, who for more than three years has operated the United Rent-Alls in Sedalia, has sold the firm to C. W. Jett and plans to go into public speaking and human relations.

Mr. and Mrs. Zander and three children, Teri, Lollie and Ricky, reside at 1698 Liberty Park and will continue to make their home in Sedalia. Mr. Zander, who is a former secretary-manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, is also an instructor in public speaking.

Jett, who has purchased the United Rent-Alls and Frozen Food Co., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jett, 1404 East Fourth, and lives with his parents. He has just returned from two years of service in the infantry, 13 months of which he spent in Korea. Before he went into service he owned and operated a grocery store in Sedalia.

When he returned he became interested in the rent-all business, which rents anything from high-chairs to house jacks, because his brother Cliff was employed there last September and will continue to work for his brother.

Right now the United Rent-Alls is a family affair with the Jetts. Their father, who is an employee at the shops, has been laid off and expects to be in the business, too, until he is called back to work. "Of course, then," said C. W., "I will have to get someone else."

The United Rent-Alls is located at 920 South Limit.

Says H-Bomb Can Ruin Any City in World

Denies First Test Explosion Went Out of Control; Blames Unexpected Change of Wind

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today a hydrogen bomb big enough to wipe out any city in the world now can be made.

Strauss made the statement at President Eisenhower's weekly news conference. He attended the conference to give the public a partial report on the recent H-bomb tests in the Far Pacific.

The AEC chairman said the March 1 and March 26 tests "were successful" and declared that "enormous potential has been added to our military posture."

He denied reports that the first blast, which exposed a number of Americans, Japanese and Marshall Islanders far from the explosion scene to "hot" ashes, went out of control.

James M. Cox Urges Unity For America

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (P)—James M. Cox, elder statesman and newspaper publisher, today urged unity for America in a troubled world. The former governor of Ohio and Democratic presidential candidate in 1920, with Franklin D. Roosevelt's running mate, reached his 84th birthday today. He granted an interview with some reluctance, his first in four years.

Cox entered Congress in 1908, then was governor of Ohio for six years. Since the 1920 presidential campaign he has devoted himself almost exclusively to his seven newspapers in the North and South.

What about world conditions?

"I've had time to reflect on the matters of my official career and the consequences of the tragedy of 1920," he said.

That tragedy, he believes, was the defeat of the ideal of the League of Nations. He recalled that Winston Churchill, prime minister and great wartime leader of Britain, recently said the defeat of the League of Nations "has cost two wars." Cox believes that too.

The Governor—that's how he is known to all newspapermen — appeared in excellent health and spirit.

He spoke of the "tremendous crisis that involves our part of the world," and was asked:

"What do you think of our leadership in this time of crisis?"

"I have the greatest sympathy and respect for President Eisenhower," he said. "Those in control of our government came to their positions in the orderly process of government and we must be ever mindful that he is our president, resolved within his own mind, I am convinced, to do the best he can for our country."

"I have faith that if the President stands firmly for what he believes in, he will have the support of the country."

He went on to say that "we have suffered the penalty" of the defeat of the League of Nations, and added:

"It is better to forget it all and do the best we can in unity. To make the best of a sad situation. We cannot avoid playing an important part in world affairs. That part would be difficult without unity."

"It will be hard to accomplish our mission unless we crush evil movements that beset us now. We can hardly expect to attain international leadership unless we can agree among ourselves."

Cox' seven newspapers are the Miami Daily News, Atlanta Journal and Constitution, Dayton (Ohio) Daily News and Journal-Herald, and the Springfield (Ohio) News and Sun. He also owns radio and television stations in the various cities.

Probe C119 Ruins To Find Cause Of Seven Deaths

FT BRAGG, N. C. (P)—Air Force and Army officials today probed the smoldering remains of a C119 Flying Boxcar which went out of control here yesterday and crashed into a mess hall, killing seven and injuring 10.

With one engine blazing, the ship went out of control shortly after taking off from nearby Pope Air Force Base, hit a bachelor officers' quarters, careened crazily across a parade ground and ripped into a mess hall.

The plane and the mess hall burst into flames fed by gasoline. Five men aboard the plane were killed, including the pilot, 1st Lt. Albert W. Parks, 25, of Cannelton, Ind. Two men in the mess hall were killed.

The body of A1C R. V. Short, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Short, Blackey, Ky., was the last removed from the debris. He was the plane's radio operator.

Five of the injured were in the mess hall preparing dinner.

The plane had taken off for Louisville, Ky., with five Army passengers and a crew of four. The other two crewmen and two passengers were among the injured. Another man was injured fighting the fire.

The ship's flight engineer, A. I. C. Eugene R. Snyder of Donelson, Tenn., said after a normal takeoff, one engine failed.

Has Trouble Feeding Baby Sea Elephant

AVALON, Calif. (P)—A baby sea elephant which became lost from its mother has been taken in tow by Al Hansen, deep sea diver.

Hansen rescued the 2-month-old suckling mammal yesterday in Avalon harbor but is stumped about feeding it. The 70-pound baby has refused cow's milk and squid. Hansen is trying goat's milk, and if that doesn't work he is open to suggestion.

Smith-Cotton Singers Give Program for Optimist Club

The musical talent of Smith-Cotton High School, under the able direction of the music instructor, Mrs. Carl Schrader, presented a program of real entertainment Tuesday noon before members of the Optimist Club.

Larry Wanserski was program chairman for the day and Harold Barrick, president of the Optimist Club found on Monday evening they did not have a program for the next day, but even at 5 p. m. they called Mrs. Schrader, who promised them a program and certainly did present one.

These youngsters gave a variety of numbers beginning with songs by the girls' double sextette, composed of Barbara Black, Shirley Kirkpatrick, Elvera Kroenke, Shirley Peters, Elaine Bohon, Carolyn Heck, Pat Korando, Joyce Witt, Barbara Arnold, Nancy Vaughan, Barbara Leiter and Dean Hinken, with Ann Marquess as accompanist. Ann served as accompanist all through the program.

A boys' quartette, Larry Owen, John Loague, Don Hofheims and Chester O'Bannon, gave a bit of close harmony that appealed to the men.

Two special numbers were duets. The first, Barbara Black, soprano and Larry Owen, tenor who sang: "The Touch of Your Hand" and "I Won't Dance," by Marilyn Garrett and Gordon Williams.

Carlisle Hume and Co. put on an unusually clever little act. And it took the "company" to really make Carlisle's act good. Together Carlisle and the funny little clown played on the horn that the clown kept shining.

The program closed with members of the girls' double sextette, the boys' quartette, plus another group of boys: John Walsh, Melvin Jones, Gordon Williams, Bob Kreeger, Gene Watts and Ronald Malone, singing a group of songs.

Mrs. Schrader shook her head on the last number and handed over her copy of "Onward Christian Soldiers" to some of the boys. As usual they had forgotten their music. But, never-the-less, she thinks they are wonderful. And they really are. Some of them she has had since she taught in the grades at Mark Twain School and all the way through high school. Now they are about ready to graduate. There are good voices among them, some of them exceptionally fine and Jerry Schrader is wondering this year where she is going to get such material next year. What will she do for bass singers next year? But last year at this time she was worrying about tenors. And somehow they always come.

Bogutski Gives
GOP Policies
And Program

The Republican city committee held its First Ward meeting at Mark Twain School last night with Ed G. Kehde Jr., Republican candidate for councilman, presiding. Mike Bogutski, attorney, was the speaker, presenting the Republican policies and program.

Mr. Bogutski pointed out the reasons why the Republican team should be elected "instead of a one-man dominated city government." He also urged every voter to go to the polls, and said if they did the Republican ticket would be elected April 6.

"Every person," he asserted, should be dedicated to voting, as it could mean the difference between an honest administration and machine rule. A good city government is extremely important to everyone as it protects the life and property of every citizen every moment of the day, but still many people lack the interest to vote on election day."

Mr. Bogutski said that people want to rebuild a police department, as it is so close to our lives and the protection of our property.
He continued, "The program adopted by the Republican city convention delegates was one of complete unselfishness; it read like a citizens' platform intended for the best interests of the city."

By this platform and other features of the program, Mr. Bogutski said, the Republican party is even attempting to lift city elections out of partisan politics and put itself out of business. Politicians have always opposed the city manager plan, so it shows the people who have in this campaign avored the plan as completely selfless.

The city manager plan is organized for efficient city administration, with the citizens as the "stockholders," the city council as the "board of directors," and the city manager as the "general manager." This city manager plan has been adopted by 1,220 cities in the United States and the local Republican party is willing to present these plans for the consideration of the citizens of Sedalia, he declared.

Concerning the city planning commission, Mr. Bogutski said the city is at the crossroads and "we should look ahead for orderly expansion"; that "no one could quarrel with the provision for more wards and better representation"; that "a full-time recreational director would be a fine project as it is important for us to use our leisure time constructively."

Dr. John E. Lamy, Republican

Bagby Gives 5 Principles For Recreation

Julian Bagby, Democratic candidate for mayor, laid down five principles for the governing of Sedalia's park system, Tuesday night at the Second Ward Democratic meeting at Jefferson School. Those principles, as Mr. Bagby expressed them, are:

"First: Well planned parks and a program of recreational facilities available to all citizens are important to the health and welfare of this community.

"Second: A well-balanced park system must include the improvement of all parks—and must take into account the recreational needs of all sections of the city.

"Third: Any program undertaken for the improvement of our parks should be the result of 'pooled thinking'—by that I mean, that our system of parks should be improved and recreational facilities expanded in accordance with the wishes of the citizens themselves. A citizens committee working with the park board, similar to the one suggested in connection with our traffic problems, would be of value in working with the administration on park improvements.

"Fourth: The development of a well directed, community-wide recreational program calls for careful planning. If we are going to give the taxpayer the most for his tax dollar, in the way of a park system, we shall need a long range plan to guide us—a plan that will help us to avoid the pitfalls of piecemeal improvements, and the waste that always accompanies haphazard planning.

"Fifth: No program of park improvement can be successful unless it is soundly financed. Too many times, those interested in recreation have acted merely as a pressure group asking the city for money. In setting up a plan, we must include in our considerations the manner in which the plan is to be financed. It is my considered belief that with careful, long-range planning, and the judicious use of the funds available, we can finance an adequate recreational program in Sedalia—without spending any more money than the citizens themselves wish to spend for these purposes and without any increase in taxes.

In addition to Mr. Bagby, Lawrence Barnett and William F. Brown, local attorneys, both made talks. Mr. Barnett, in speaking of the candidacy of Mr. Bagby, said: "Julian Bagby has demonstrated in a thousand ways his ability to administer the affairs of Sedalia, and we would be foolish not to take advantage of our opportunity to benefit from his experience and his ability."

Mr. Brown, in discussing the issues in the coming election, said: "The question of whether or not a city manager form of government should be adopted in Sedalia is not a political issue in this campaign and cannot be decided at this election. Such a system can be adopted only after a majority of the voters cast their ballots in favor of such a system in a special election on the question."

The meeting was presided over by W. C. Cramer, city Democratic chairman, who announced the Third Ward Democratic meeting for Wednesday night. The following candidates for city offices, in addition to Mr. Bagby, were present and were introduced:

For chief of police, Edgar Neighbors; for city collector, Paul Alpert; for city attorney, James E. Durlay; for police judge, R. L. Weinrich; for city treasurer, Mrs. Claude Brown; for city assessor, John Blue; for aldermen, Second Ward, Roland Snodgrass; First Ward, Harry Moore; Third Ward, Dr. Ira White; Fourth Ward, Carlton L. Kelley; member of school board, Vincent Siegel.

Boonslick Library Staff and Board At State Meeting

The Boonslick Regional Library members attending the district citizens and trustees meeting in Columbia Thursday, April 1, are: Chairman C. A. Repp, Boonville; Mrs. Kurman Riley, Sedalia; Oliver Gochenour, Ottumwa; Mrs. Olen Monsees, Smithton; Rev. G. S. Birkhead, Boonville; Col. A. M. Hinch, Boonville and Mrs. Jack Fowler, Hughesville.

The new Boonslick bookmobile will be on display at the meeting since a number of counties in the area do not have countywide service. Bookmobile driver Tommy Brodersen will take it.

Rev. Birkhead served on the planning committee for the program and he states that it will be an unusually good one. Rev. Stephen M. Pronko, Brentwood trustee and chairman of the group, will speak and Willard Dennis, president of the Missouri Library Association, will talk on legislation. Rev. Birkhead and Mrs. Monsees will take part on the panel discussion and there will be general group participation in the other parts of the program.

Mrs. Riley and Mr. Repp will take part in a mock radio broadcast describing the bookmobile demonstration given this area from the state library.

Police Reports

W. D. Berry, Milner Hotel, reported to the police that while his Dodge pickup truck was parked behind the Moose Club Tuesday night, two wheels and tires were stolen. They were taken from extra wheel holders on the side of the truck.

The large wagon wheel from the Wheel-Linn, Broadway and Limit, became a toy for four young men stationed at the Sedalia Air Force Base about 3 a. m. Wednesday. The young men, 19 to 20 years old were frolicking on the highway, rolling it around.

No charges were preferred against them, but they were lectured and told to "act like Air Force men and not like children," according to the police.

The four told Mr. Keuper they would return to Sedalia Wednesday and make necessary repairs in replacing the wheel.

Lyman C. Keuper, 1806 West Broadway, found an old model shotgun lying next to his mail box Wednesday. The gun was taken to police headquarters where it can be identified by the owner.

'Full Confidence' Expressed In Ike Defense Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said today he still has "full confidence" in the Eisenhower defense program, which Senate Democrats attacked in broadside fashion yesterday.

"We are taking a calculated risk," said Saltonstall, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. "Most of the criticism is merely results from a difference in viewpoints."

"This administration is building its air power and other forces in an orderly way best calculated for the long pull we must face," he said in an interview. "Some believe we should be aiming at a target date or crisis, such as tomorrow or a year from tomorrow."

The Democratic attack was led by Sen. Symington, (D-Mo.), who was secretary of the Air Force under former President Truman. The Missourian accused present Pentagon chiefs of "foot dragging" on defense and of not telling the people or Congress the truth about Soviet air power and the danger of possible atomic and hydrogen attacks.

Reinforced by Sens. Jackson (D-Wash.), Mansfield (D-Mont.), Mayback (D-S.C.) and Morse (Ind.-Ore.), Symington contended that a five-billion-dollar cutback in Air Force funds last year weakened the nation's defenses. He also charged that the "new look" defense concept has resulted in a two-year setback in the airpower buildup.

But Saltonstall and Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) contended that this country has greatly expanded its military might, including air power, under the Eisenhower administration and that present budgets are ample.

but the plays were so similar in style and so well done that there was no more than a ten-point difference between the first-place production and the one in fifth place. All deserved either blue or red ribbons, he said. No white ribbons were awarded.

In the blue-ribbon class were "Itchin' to Get Hitched," with 95 points, "Orville's Big Date," with 93 points, and "A Sense of Values," with 89 points.

GOD AND COUNTRY AWARDS—The Rev. David M. Bryan, pastor of the First Christian Church, is pictured with two Boy Scouts of his church, Johnny Steele, 18, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Steele, 112 East Third, and Dale Stephens, 16, right, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stephens of Marshall, formerly of Sedalia, who received the God and Country Award, one of the highest awards in Scouting, at the worship service Sunday. The award was given by the church in cooperation with the Boy Scouts of America and is for churchmanship.

Two Scouts of First Christian Church Get an Unusual Award

The Rev. David M. Bryan, pastor of the First Christian Church, is proud of what happened in his church Sunday when two boys were presented the God and Country Award, one of the highest awards in Scouting.

The boys are Johnny Steele, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Steele and Dale Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stephens, who formerly resided in Sedalia but are now living in Marshall.

It was at the morning worship service that the church, in cooperation with the Boy Scouts of America, presented to these boys the God and Country badge.

This is an unique award. An award that goes much farther than the good sportsmanship and good citizenship of which all true Boy Scouts may boast. This is for good "churchmanship" and these two youths have been working on this award for the past two years.

It is an award that is given boys of any faith who work to earn it in their own church.

Doctors

tors in Pettis County from the time of the Indians. There were pottery Indians, two standing and one sitting near a wigwam, and there was a little black kettle like the Indians used to make medicine, with the water boiling, and the vapor rising from it. There was a Civil War surgical set, a saddle bag, a medical book published in 1831, a set of pill bottles with the original pills, more than 100 years old, and a reptile bag containing emergency instruments used by Dr. A. E. Monroe of Kansas City who started practice here 60 years ago.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Gordon Stauffer, president of the Auxiliary to the Pettis County Medical Association.

A special guest was Mrs. Harry M. Gilkey of Kansas City, who is Southern Medical State Councilor for Missouri. Mrs. Gilkey made a short talk on the Southern Medical Association. She was presented a corsage of red carnations.

Dr. Pete Siegel gave an interesting program honoring Dr. Dyer and Dr. Campbell, showing pictures on things that had happened in the lives of the two doctors through the years, and made clever little comments in the form of "This Is Your Life." Dr. Siegel is president of the Pettis County Medical Association.

Dr. John Carlisle made a talk and read amusing items from an old medical book, some things very complimentary to the auxiliary, the women, felt, for a doctor who didn't have an auxiliary himself.

Moving pictures in color were shown by Dr. Gordon Stauffer. They had been taken at the Doctor's Day banquet of 1953.

George H. Scruton Jr., managing editor of the Sedalia Democrat, was called upon for a short talk and also read a poem written for the Medical Auxiliary which follows:

The Medical Auxiliary

The medical auxiliary who know How much the ailing public Keeps the doctors on the go, The doctors who "Jones" aches And Mrs. Lawson's pains, They know about the broken bones They know about the broken hearts They would like one happy evening On which to really plan But experience has taught them that And they know they never can For the night of a big party

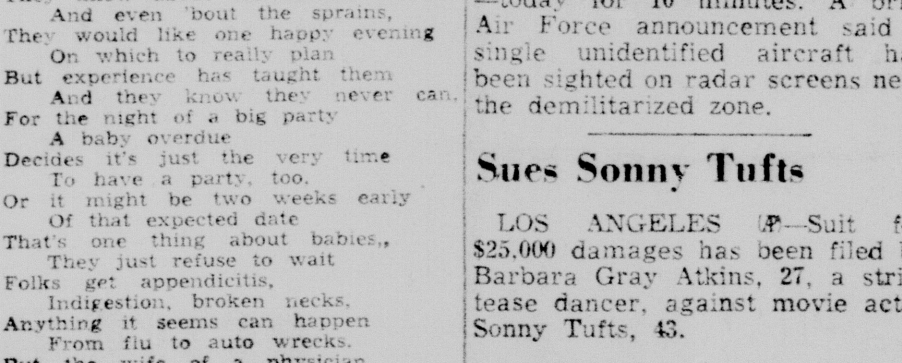

A baby overdue Decides it's just the very time To have a party, too. Or it might be two weeks early Of that expected date That one thing about babies, They just refuse to wait Folks get appeased, The doctors' broken necks, Anything it seems can happen From flu to auto wrecks. But the wife of a physician Lets us early that a chance Can spoil a lovely evening. She stays home or goes alone. But she's proud of his profession For the things that he can do, She is glad she is a helpmate Who can sacrifice some top.

By Hazel N. Lang

Members of the medical profession and their wives had to laugh about the poem because before the evening was over three of the doctors were called. Some babies had decided to have a party, too.

Games were played and one of the parts of the program thoroughly enjoyed was old time songs played by Mrs. E. F. Yancey, and all joining in singing after they had guessed the tunes. Mrs. Dyer and Mrs. F. B. Long were also on the entertainment committee.

The menu for the supper was planned around roast beef and turkey by Mrs. W. A. Beckmeyer.

Grateful USAF To Honor Scots Who Saved Pilots

LONDON (AP)—A grateful U. S. Air Force is preparing the red carpet treatment for three Scots villagers whose radio signals during an Atlantic gale helped save the lives of 29 American jet pilots.

Honors due a five-star general will be shown to postmistress Mary Cook and carpenter John MacGougan and his wife. All are from Skippess, a village of 293 persons.

Maj. Gen. Francis H. Griswold, commander of the U. S. 3rd Air Force in Britain, is sending his personal plane to fly the three Scots to London Friday.

"Anything they want to do we will try to arrange," an Air Force spokesman said.

The rescue story goes back to last November, when 29 Sabre jet fighters, being flown from Iceland to England en route to NATO forces, ran into strong gales. They were an hour overdue.

At lonely Skippess, 45 miles from Prestwick Airport, the U. S. Air Force had just installed a radio beacon for use in an emergency. MacGougan had the key to the radio shack and had promised the Americans to switch on the beam whenever they called Miss Cook, who had the village's only telephone.

The big hope for the 29 pilots was that they could be guided into Prestwick. Their fuel supplies had been dangerously depleted while battling the gale winds.

They were not. The pilots were forced to land in the fields around Skippess. The Americans switched on the beam whenever they called Miss Cook, who had the village's only telephone.

The big hope for the 29 pilots was that they could be guided into Prestwick. Their fuel supplies had been dangerously depleted while battling the gale winds.

She went to her home and later was attended by Dr. John Lamy. She suffered an injury to her right knee, abrasions on the left side of her face, on the left hand and elbow. She also suffered from shock.

Mrs. Spears was admitted to the Bothwell Hospital Wednesday for further treatment and observation.

City Manager

permitted to contribute to any political party or any such organization.

"Advocates of the city manager form of government use four points:

(a) It will establish a more unified organization, and a more centralized control and responsibility. (b) It will place the decision as to policies in the hands of the elected representatives of the people; and the administration of those policies in the hands of trained and experienced administrators instead of inexperienced amateurs. (c) It will introduce into the city government the element of business efficiency and tend to eliminate partisanship and political spoils. (d) It will stabilize the administration and give continuity to administrative programs and policies.

Asked if a city manager might not become a dictator, Mr. Richardson explained, this could be corrected over night. He explained a city manager is a day-to-day position. A city council, if the city manager is not efficient or starts to act like a dictator, can fire the city manager at any time.

He also pointed out that in 1953 87 cities adopted council-manager form of government, five dropped it and two did not go through with it leaving 80 which continued it. In 1952 and 1951 63 cities adopted it in each year. In 1950 60 adopted it. At the present time he said 1,220 cities in the United States have the council-manager plan.

"To adopt the council-manager plan, the first requirement is the people must be interested in good government. Under it we have good employees. We have good mechanism. And have to have both to operate," he said.

At the close of his talk Mr. Richardson answered numerous questions asked by the audience in reference to details of obtaining a good city manager, his salary, etc.

About 30 persons attended the meeting.

Says Greatest American University Is Mail Pouch

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A wise man once said the best way to avoid trouble is never to answer a telephone—or open your mail.

But the greatest American university is still the U. S. postman's pouch. Few of us can resist at least opening the missives he brings—the stampmarked slender paper shells full of odd bits of yearning and learning, threats to sue, political preachings, past-due bills, charity appeals, great business opportunities, and bargain offers that (unfortunately) can only be made for a limited time.

In this vast postal sea each letter sets sail bravely, bearing a plea or message from one human being to another. The fate of most vessels in this myriad paper fleet is sad indeed. They reach port only to have their cargo—glanced at but often unread—tossed unceremoniously into a wastebasket, and their voyage is a failure. They have failed to deliver their message to Garcia—or Smith, Brown, Jones or McGillicuddy.

The ruinous loss of all this information, the wreckage of so many facts and fancies that cry out to be heard, distresses me. So now and then I salvage from my own morning mail such tidbits of interest, lore, as may brighten the daze of people tired of brooding over bus ads on the long ride home.

Herewith are a few such nuggets of knowledge which, while they may fail to change your life, at least will provide you with an answer when your wife asks, "what's on your mind?"

Paris, the capital of France, now has about 400,000 trees, or roughly one tree for every 10 people... not counting tourists, or course... It is estimated that the U. S. has 12 billion dollars invested in plants and businesses overseas...

His biographers say comedian Jerry Lewis won the heart of Patti Oalmer, a singer, by hanging a pair of baby shoes on her dressing mirror with this note: "I haven't a buck, but what do you say we get married and fill these?" Now they have two sons (one is adopted), nine dogs, and nobody knows how many bucks.

What are you and your wife doing to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the tea bag? Just taking it in your stride? Well, ponder this: each tea bag has a blend of 20 to 50 different kinds of tea... The tea bag was invented accidentally by an Irishman (as an Englishman once remarked: "The Irish never really do anything on purpose.") named Tom Sullivan, a New York merchant who put out

Announcing A New Vaccine Against Swine and Turkey Erysipelas
DUOVAX LEDELE

Swine erysipelas occurs in most swine raising areas and may be seen at all times of the year. It is the most serious in swine from 3 to 12 months of age, however, hogs of all ages are susceptible and the disease often attacks pigs from a few days of age on up. This disease is frequently confused with others, principally hog cholera, mineral and vitamin deficiencies and localized infections. One differential diagnosis from hog cholera is that a hog sick with erysipelas will eat when aroused and helped to his feet, those with hog cholera will not. Cholera pigs are dull while those with erysipelas are overly alert or nervous.

The disease will generally yield to treatment with penicillin. As in many other diseases it does leave its marks by stunting those that have it. This new vaccine does have a very definite place in preventing this disease. The dose is 5cc. Pigs of all ages may be immunized but it is preferable to vaccinate when two to three months of age.

Reds and Nazis Resume 1939

Link to Undermine U. S.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- U.S. agents have dug up irrefutable evidence that the 1939 Nazi-Communist pact has been renewed, in effect, and that the Reds are again collaborating with unrepentant Nazis in a world-wide, underground network.

The evidence is also conclusive that the network has used none other than Sen. Joe McCarthy as a propaganda mouthpiece. For example, McCarthy charged the U.S. Army with torturing German war criminals who had been sentenced for the murder of American prisoners. This happened to be the Communist line in Germany, and McCarthy's sensational charges were circulated by the Reds to stir up anti-American feeling among the German people.

Senate investigators traced the charges to Dr. Rudolph Aschenauer, an ex-Nazi working with the Communists, who helped write McCarthy's speeches and mailed them to him from Frankfurt, Germany, in large, brown, manila envelopes.

Aschenauer had three known agents in this country—Frederick Weiss, H. Keith Thompson, and Ulick Varange—who also represented the Socialist Reich party. This was such a flagrant, pro-Nazi party that it was finally outlawed by the West German government. Yet, in spite of its Nazi trimmings, the S.R.P. was known to be drawing money and support from the Communists. Its vice chairman, Dr. Fritz Doris, secretly visited Soviet headquarters in Karlhorst, East Germany.

Nazi Admirers McCarthy

Of the three pro-Nazi agents in this country, the best known is Weiss, who masterminded the National Renaissance Party, a group of fanatical anti-Semites with headquarters in Yorkville, N. Y. Weiss is one of McCarthy's most ardent admirers, yet at the same time is collaborating with the Communists. He spouts the Communist line on foreign policy, particularly against the European Defense Community, and his fanatical band is known to be infiltrated with Reds.

The FBI is most interested, however, in Varange, a mystery man who also goes by the names of Francis Yockey and Frank Healy. He is known to be the author of a book on Fascist strategy, urging anti-American by not anti-Soviet activity. As for Thompson, he started out as a left-winger, switched over to the Nazis, and now claims to have broken with them.

Purpose behind the new Nazi-Communist partnership is to weaken democracy—an objective of both the extreme left and right. Though the neo-Nazis and Communists openly denounce each other, they secretly work together to tear down the democratic fabric. This is done by the old, familiar method of spreading hate, fear, suspicion, and dissension.

A devastating, documented story on the world-wide link between Communism and Nazism appears in Reporter magazine, which went on the stands today. For example, the Reporter describes the Communist backing of the neo-Nazi leader, Dr. Werner Naumann, who was nominated by Hitler to be Josef Goebbels' heir as propaganda minister.

Revives Nazism

Naumann rallied the pro-Nazi splinter parties behind him in an attempt to resurrect the Nazi movement. He praised Senator McCarthy and denounced President Eisenhower. Finally he was arrested by the British on charges of plotting to overthrow the West German government. The plot was inspired, according to closed-door testimony, by a Communist agent.

Reporter magazine charges that the "explicit aim of the Naumann group was to establish a totalitarian West German government oriented toward the Soviet Union."

Naumann used a Düsseldorf export-import firm, the H. S. Lucht Company, as a front for a world-wide political network which kept in touch with Nazi exiles in Spain and Argentina, as well as pro-Nazis in other countries. For example, Col. Otto Skorzeny, the rescuer of Mussolini, and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's former financial wizard, are connected with the company in Spain.

Cohn and Schine Succumb

Two members of the Nazi-Communist underground in Spain also took in Senator McCarthy's two junior G-men, Roy Cohn and David Schine, during their comic-opera, spy-hunting junket through Europe last year.

One was Wolfgang Lohde, who filled the two youthful gumshoes with stories of Communist infiltration of Radio Free Europe. It later turned out that he had signed an anti-American manifesto circulated by a German Communist-Front organization.

The other informant was Hermann Aumer, who was authorized by Cohn and Schine to spy on the U.S.-licensed German press for McCarthy. Once ardently pro-Nazi, Aumer was fired by the U.S. Army in 1946 because of suspected Communist affiliations. Afterward, he proved the suspicions had been well-founded by joining the board of directors of the East-West Working Group for East-West Trade, a known Red front.

These two informants tried to sabotage U.S. propaganda behind the Iron Curtain by convincing McCarthy's gumshoes that Communists had infiltrated the Voice of America and Radio Free Europe.

Note — Senator McCarthy has consistently voted the Communist line against the Marshall Plan, Point Four, and military aid to free nations. He has also played into Communist hands by undermining army morale, undercutting the foreign service and sabotaging the Voice of America.

Authoritarian Efficiency Lies

Only In Hiding Inefficiency

By Bruce Blossat

By their nature, democracies muddle through. At times, their warmest advocates grow exasperated with the delays, the confusion, the inefficiencies and the bickering and filling which mark the process of popular decision.

In these moments, some people cast longing glances toward the authoritarian governments, where common report has it that dictation from the top produces a high degree of efficiency, of centralized action, without inordinate delay.

The phrase, "he made the trains run on time," heard so much in Mussolini's day expressed quite well this somewhat envious thought. Now, in Communist China, it is the Reds who are making the trains run on time.

But, in truth, this whole notion is an illusion which does not stand up under close inspection. A few examples from Nazi Germany, billed as the great colossus which did everything right, will reveal the fallacy in this outlook.

After the war, when we could interrogate thousands of men who were involved in the German war effort, we learned just how "efficient" Nazi rule really was. The fact was that it was a horribly bungling regime which kicked away an amazing number of opportunities to advance its cause of conquest.

Two years after the great war began, Hitler still did not have arms production organized on a sensible basis. In 1942, with German legions expending 400 million rounds of bullets a month in Russia, the Nazis were producing just 115 million a month.

As Theodore White reports, Hitler "flicked his war production about as the whim took him, ordering canceling, guessing, exhorting, without reference to fact, figure or statistic." The armed services ordered irrelevantly; priorities were a jumble.

Another instance: Germany lost a great battleship, the Scharnhorst, largely because German naval air reconnaissance was so indifferent the ship's commander began duelling British ships without knowing a British battleship of superior fire power was among them.

One man, Herman Goering, was responsible for this loss. As boss of the air force, he was contemptuous of the navy and its need for air guidance. The German navy never got the air protection most navies have.

These errors grew out of government by dictate, by individual whim. The democracies made mistakes in the war, too. And big ones. But the democracies had one saving grace. Their errors were subject to the corrective criticism.

In lands where freedom rules, most decisions are put under public scrutiny, questioned, debated, hammered at, even reversed if need be. Thus, all the inefficiencies are exposed, and performance often seems worse than it is.

In totalitarian countries, errors are suppressed and thus are compounded and magnified. To the world they offer a facade of perfection. But it is jerry-built, and conceals a host of weaknesses.

No, we need not envy the authoritarian way. And though we dare not grow complacent about our defense, we need not fear the authoritarians, either.

Problem of 'Other Woman' Must Be Handled With Care

By Ruth Millett

A woman writes: "My sister is smart about everything but men. But a girl she has befriended, whose husband is overseas, is making an obvious play for my sister's husband, and she doesn't even know what is happening."

"For a while the girl lived with them. She doesn't any longer, but visits them frequently and always manages to miss her bus so that my sister's husband has to drive her home. She makes opportunities for getting him alone, or asking his help about something, and my sister just doesn't see what she is up to."

"Should I try to put her wise to what is going on and run the risk of having her think I am meddling in her business?"

"Or should I keep quiet, which I have done so far? There is already gossip about the situation."

Don't go to your sister, for you may take away the faith in her husband that is perhaps her greatest safeguard against another woman.

You might, however, depending on how well you get along with your brother-in-law, take him aside and tell him about the gossip. Stress the fact that your sister knows nothing of it and you have no intention of telling her.

Assure Him You're Sincere

If you can make him understand that you are concerned not just for your sister but for their marriage, you may get somewhere.

The success or failure of your attempt will depend on whether or not you can keep a cool head. Do not blame your brother-in-law for the gossip, or low-rate the woman who is causing it, or you'll put him on the defensive.

What you want is to open his eyes to a situation that could seriously affect his marriage, without blaming him for its existence.

But don't try to talk to your brother-in-law unless in the past your relationship has been friendly and affectionate.

If there is any antagonism between the two of you, then keep quiet and hope for the best.

No Frozen Assets For Us

Out of Helena, Mont., comes a report that on Jan. 20 this year the thermometer touched 70 degrees below zero for a new national cold record.

We still have a considerable distance to go before matching the world record, held by a place called Verkhovansk, Siberia, which once experienced 94 below.

But if things keep on like this, Montana will soon be cold enough to exile people to—in the unhappy event we ever get around to that sort of thing.

Of course we won't. We're not likely even to take seriously the recent suggestion of some U.S. senators that we set up internment camps for Communists who turn up in the Army.

This smacks too much of the practices followed by a couple of fellows we just beat in a war that cost us 227,900 dead Americans.

'They Were Here a Minute Ago'

The World Today—

Dulles' Called for Encores

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON —It is getting so that when Secretary of State Dulles makes an important speech he is called on for an encore—not to repeat it but to explain it.

It happened after his New York speech Jan. 12. Questions were asked about that for weeks. It is happening again now after his speech in New York March 29.

On Jan. 12 Dulles said: "This government, as a deterrent to further Communist aggression, had made a basic decision to 'depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate instantly, by means and at places of our own choosing.'"

The word "instantly" got special attention in the questions which arose at home and abroad.

Was Dulles saying this country would answer any kind of Communist aggression, no matter where or how, without consulting its allies, although the action might touch off World War III, dragging them in?

If, for instance, the Chinese Communists intervened more directly in the Communist-led war against the French in Indochina, would this country at once atom-bomb China whether American allies liked it or not?

Dulles and President Eisenhower were both repeatedly quizzed at their news conferences. The Senate's Foreign Relations Committee gave the secretary a three-hour going-over March 19.

Dulles' replies, including explanations given in a magazine article, came to this:

He avoided being too specific, to keep the Communists guessing what this country would do. But, if there was aggression, it didn't necessarily mean China or Russia would be bombed. What this country did depended on what they did. Dulles said the key word in his speech about instant retaliation was "capacity" and had been overlooked. The heart of the basic decision, he said, was to have the "capacity" to retaliate instantly.

It didn't mean the retaliation necessarily would be instant. And assurance was given that American allies would be consulted before this country took action which might involve them.

Eisenhower seemed to knock down the idea of any instant retaliation by saying Congress would have to declare war before this country got into one.

Dulles and Eisenhower later were called on to explain this too. They said: The President didn't mean in every case he would not act before Congress declared war. In some cases, such as an attack on this country, the President might have to order immediate counterattack.

Meanwhile, the United States kept getting deeper into the Indochina war, where it already had sent the French billions of dollars in equipment. Air Force men were sent there to service, but not fly, U.S. planes for the French.

Some Senate Democrats wondered whether this country wasn't getting too deep.

Eisenhower told a news conference: It is his policy to keep the United States from getting involved in a hot war; everything this country does to help the French is intended to keep it from getting in too deep; and there could not be a greater tragedy than American involvement in all-out fighting in Indochina.

He conceded there was some risk in everything done in international affairs. The word "risks" had an important place in the speech Dulles made March 29. He said:

"Under conditions on today, the position of Southeast Asia of the Russia and its Chinese Communist ally, by whatever means, would be a grave threat to the whole free community."

"The United States feels that that possibility should not be passively accepted, but should be met with united action. This might involve serious risks. But these risks

DUNN examined the pole itself. "Nobody's climbed this pole recently. There would be fresh scars from climbing irons. But all you'd need would be another pulley fastened to the basket itself. And maybe a cord trailing along. When it was in position, the man waiting in that bush could grab the trailing cord, pull the basket to the ground. When it was empty, Eddie would pull on his long cord and the basket would go up to the wire before it started on the trip uphill."

"I suppose it would work. Pretty childish way to go about collecting extortion money."

Jim smiled then went on in a voice that had suddenly grown grim. "Don't forget it was Eddie Stone up at the station. I have an idea such a plan would have appealed to him."

"At least," Mark said, "your theory would account for the wads of paper around this pole. So we'll have to have them gathered up and checked for prints. And I suppose the guy down at this end waiting until the last pay-off had been made—according to the time schedule—then sent up a glass of strawberry pop loaded with cyanide?"

"An empty glass," Jim said. "And a container for the pop. So it wouldn't spill. I think that was Eddie Stone's reward for his work."

He walked over to the stake marker where the pen had been found, stared down at it as if by the piece of wood should speak. He shook his head. "Be mighty careless to lose that initialed pen." He started back toward Mark. The sun light glittered briefly from a small square of metal, level with the hard dirt. Jim scuffed at it absently with his toe. It refused to move. He bent over, scraped dirt more cautiously.

"Find something, Jim?"
"Looks like an ice pick," Jim said. "An all-metal one." He scraped with his knife. "An ice pick, sharpened so it'd fit the description of the murder weapon on Dr. Pardon gave us."

The two men unearthed the ice pick carefully, and Mark put it in a roll of newspapers. It was an advertising pick, one stamped with the name of the donor, in this case the Hughes Furniture Company.

"And the ball point pen right near by," Dunn said. "Complete with initials, G. W. Why, Mark? One of them might have been lost. That pick wasn't lost, though. It was stamped into the hard ground. Was that to hide it? Or were we supposed to find it—after we located the ball point pen?"

TEN minutes later they were still discussing Jim's questions, when the man in denim jacket and jeans walked up.

"Been waiting until you boys got through here. Didn't like to interrupt. Morning, Lieutenant."

"Vern Bruce, isn't it?" Richards demanded.

"That's right. Used to know you when you were younger. Made a kite for you once, a long time ago." The man was tall, with a narrow head covered by much too long black hair streaked with gray. There was gray stubble on his cheeks, which made his face appear not overly clean.

"You want something?"

"It's this way, Lieutenant. You know where I live? Next to old Gaylord Mansfield's place."

"I know."

"Well, I been waiting around awhile. Thought you or some other cop would come around after what happened last night to the Stone boy. But I finally decided I might as well come up and get you. Might be serious."

"Then get to the point," Richards suggested.

Bruce shook his head slowly.

He started off without another word, and Jim and Mark followed.

THE two friends went through a gate into a large garden.

Along the right-hand fence which cut off this garden from the Mansfield property, a 12-inch plank had been nailed so that it formed a long bench, a good five and a half feet from ground level, and six inches from the fence top. At least a dozen cats of all sizes, shapes, and colors sat there.

They sat and stared over the fence into the space beyond.

"Hi, kids," Vern Bruce said.

Furry faces and glancing eyes turned momentarily toward the men, then returned once more to the important business of staring over the top of the fence.

"See what I mean?" Bruce demanded. "They've been like that since first thing this morning. Won't even take time to come down to eat. That's how I know there's something wrong over there."

Poland Only About 20 Pct. For Commies

Editor's Note—Frederick Kuh, Chicago Sun-Times correspondent, recently spent two weeks in Poland with greater freedom of movement than any Western correspondent has had there in many years. His uncensored reports, being concluded in the Sun-Times today, have been condensed by The Associated Press for publication here. A previous article appeared last week. All this material is copyright 1954.

By FREDERICK KUH

An astute observer in Warsaw said a free election in Poland today would give the Communist government less than 20 per cent of the vote. This is of course an arbitrary judgment. But from talks with many scores of plain citizens, foreign ambassadors and even top Communist leaders, it seemed to me a reasonable estimate.

The people are fed up with propaganda. They are bored to death with glorification of the Soviet Union, for which millions of Poles lose no love.

A prominent member of the Communist Central Committee said the regime made a grave propaganda error.

"It lacked the courage to tell the people the situation was bad and they would have to suffer," he said. "Our regime lied about the well-being in the country."

I was told that a confidential sampling, conducted by a responsible Polish state authority, revealed more than 500,000 Poles listen regularly to foreign broadcasts despite jamming. Many more are said to listen at irregular intervals.

Every intelligent Pole with whom I discussed this topic spoke highly of the British radio and poured ridicule on the Voice of America and on Radio Free Europe. They said the BBC, while hostile to Red Poland, is truthful and objective. They said the Voice and Radio Free Europe "drool propaganda and are often inaccurate."

I heard and saw much of the social advancement. I visited several creches, state medical clinics, workers' homes, colleges and universities—many places where the class that was till a few years ago grossly underprivileged today is on top. Social and economic benefits add up to about one third more than the average citizen's earned income.

The great negative factor, about which the government is discreetly silent, is the immense gap between wages and prices. On the basis of the hours the Polish citizen must work to buy common necessities, living costs are 3 to 10 times higher than in the United States. The leaders know communism must do better than that if it is to attract people in countries with a decent living standard.

Culturally, Poland presents a few bright spots in a predominantly bleak scene. Cultured Poles told me the theater has deteriorated. They said films—12 full-length films are produced yearly—full of poor and modern painting is mediocre. Great effort is being made in music, but many gifted musicians were Jews who vanished in the gas chambers. The oasis in this cultural desert is books. Poland never had such a flood streaming from the presses—world classics and Polish works.

Poland is busy digesting almost one fourth of the United States. In August 1945 Germany was put under Polish "provisional" administration, the German provinces of Silesia, Pomerania and most of East Prussia. Poland, backed by the Soviet Union, has disregarded the provisional character of this arrangement.

Polish officials said the Poles, especially in the "recovered regions," register immediate anger and some nervousness whenever America or Britain gives the slightest encouragement to West Germany's campaign for revising the Oder-Neisse frontier. The Polish Communist regime's grip on the nation is strengthened by U.S. promotion of West German rearmament and by America's fence-straddling on the German-Polish border issue.

The government has been packing the new western territories with so many workers, peasants and military and air bases that nothing short of full-scale war could uproot Polish power there. I talked with the vice president of the Katowice (Katowice) County Council, Jerzy Zieniek.

"There was a sense of insecurity here in 1945-46," said the Silesian official. "Now people see the state's big investments in reconstruction, industry, agriculture, schools, homes. They've come to believe the Oder-Neisse frontier is permanent."

Stanislaw Kulczycki, deputy speaker of Parliament, told me five million Poles have been settled in the new territory and the population is less than 1 per cent German today.

HOME-BUILT FURNISHINGS—This attractive desk set and lamp stand were built in his spare time by Fred Wirths, Tipton. The desk is made of birch, and the chair has a plastic seat. The lamp matches the table, because Wirths also built the lamp stand. Several years of use have left few marks on the sturdy desk. (Staff Photo)

Fred Wirths, Tipton, Makes Own Furnishings for Home

A knack for handicraft has helped Fred Wirths of Tipton furnish his home.

The Wirths live at the southeast corner of town, with a small farm behind it. Wirths has remodeled part of the home, extending the kitchen into the area previously occupied by the side porch and pantry. This project was completed in his vacation time about five years ago.

The new area contains the sink, completely surrounded by closets

Tulsans Cooperate In Nabbing 'Jaybirds' For Police Reward

TULSA, Okla., P.—For several days, Tulsans have been watching and catching "jaybirds"—people who violate traffic laws by crossing streets in the wrong place. They're also known as jaywalkers.

Each day, as part of a police safety program, $10 is awarded to the one detecting the wrong-way walker. No one caught him Monday so yesterday's winner, A. C. Ogden, 41, won $20.

Later, another Tulsan dashed in to police headquarters clutching a bludgeon and demanded the $20 because "I've spent seven hours catching a jaybird."

A policeman failed to convince the unidentified man he had the wrong bird. The puzzled man departed, still holding his captive bird.

and cabinets. All have a natural finish.

The living room also contains several individual pieces of furniture built by Mr. Wirths, including a lamp table, two lamp bases, a long coffee table and a cigarette stand.

But the most attractive feature is a small desk fashioned of birch and highly polished. Mrs. Wirth helped in finishing the wood. On the right are three roomy drawers and on the left are three bookshelves.

A chair with a plastic cushion goes with the desk and was built in a single day.

Mrs. Wirth said that the desk, although built several years ago, has proved its worth by the fact that their three children Mary Beth, 7; John, 12 and Norbert, 16, use it constantly, and it shows hardly any wear.

Gradually the Wirths hope to be able to make additional improvements to their home and they count on Mr. Wirth's ability in handicraft.

Strike Idleness Hits Low for February

WASHINGTON, P.—Strike idleness in February was at its lowest point for the month in more than five years.

The Bureau of Labor statistics reported today 350 February strikes involved 100,000 workers and caused 750,000 man days of idleness.

This compared with 400 strikes in January involving 150,000 workers and one million man days of idleness.

Gene Tierney And Aly Kahn Will Wed Soon

ROSARITO BEACH, Baja California, Mexico, P.—Gene Tierney, here for a week's respite from her movie labors, says she hopes to marry Aly Kahn within six months, in France.

Said Aly, "I never discuss personal affairs." In any event, Miss Tierney has switched from the "friendship finger" to the engagement finger the big diamond ring Aly gave her some time ago. She said he proposed 18 months ago, "somewhere in Europe."

"I knew I loved him a month after we met," said the actress, "but he loved me before that time."

Aly, describing his visit as "a vacation trip," took up residence at the Rosarito Beach Hotel last Saturday. Miss Tierney and her mother, Mrs. Belle Tierney, arrived with him, from Mexico City. Aly had flown there from Montreal and Paris. Gene and her mother from Hollywood.

The Moslem prince, 42, registered as Melvin Taylor and party. On Sunday Miss Tierney, 33, had to return to California for movie work. She came back here yesterday at 4 a.m.

After a noon-hour breakfast, she and the prince met the press at the swimming pool of this resort, hostelry 17 miles south of the border.

Miss Tierney, an Episcopalian, said she anticipated no religious difficulties in marriage to a Mohammedan. She also said there was no basis for reports that Aly's father, the Aga Khan, opposes the match.

Asked what she would be called if she married Aly, Miss Tierney replied: "Just a housewife."

Lenten Service Tonight At St. Paul's Church

Another mid-week Lenten service will be conducted at St. Paul's Lutheran Church tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The Lenten meditation will bring out the sad truth that Jesus was condemned in God's house 1900 years ago, and that even today He is sometimes accorded the most shameful treatment in the house of God, the church. The Scriptural account of Christ's trial and condemnation is an earnest appeal to every member of the church to do some serious searching of one's own heart.

Only Three Prisoners Continue Hunger Strike

ST. LOUIS, P.—Only 3 of 10 city jail prisoners who began a hunger strike last week continued to refuse regular meals today.

Edward L. Dowd, circuit attorney, investigated the matter yesterday and said the prisoners told him they had only one complaint—being locked up 24 hours a day.

Warden E. E. Hensley said earlier he had placed the 10 prisoners, including three convicted bank robbers, in maximum detention cells after hearing rumors of a planned jail break.

Suzan Ball, Richard Long Get License

SANTA MONICA, Calif., P.—Movie actress Suzan Ball and actor Richard Long have obtained a marriage license.

Miss Ball, who underwent amputation of her right leg Jan. 12 to prevent spread of a malignancy, put aside her crutches and clung to Long as she posed for pictures yesterday in the marriage license bureau. They plan to be married April 11.

Phils Not Yet A Real Threat To Brooklyn

By JOE REICHLER
CLEARWATER, Fla. (P)—Can two star pitchers carry a club that sorely lacks power, is minus a top flight catcher and lacks reserve strength?

With such standout performers as Granny Hamner, Del Emms, Richie Ashburn and Earl Torgeson backing up a good pitching staff headed by the wonderful duo of righthander Robin Roberts and southpaw Curt Simmons, the Phils have the nucleus of a pretty good club. But as of now, they definitely are no threat to the Brooklyn Dodgers' bid for three straight pennants.

"The deal we made with Brooklyn for infielder Bobby Morgan should help us," said portly manager Steve O'Neill. "Earlier we made the Cardinals a very good offer for Solly Hemus, but they rejected it."

"We may not win the pennant, but we'll give a good account of ourselves. The way I see the National League, it should be Brooklyn and Milwaukee fighting it out for first place, and St. Louis, New York and ourselves battling it out for third. With a break here and there, we might do better."

The best infielder on the club, Hamner, a former all-star shortstop, who until Morgan came to the club was forced to play second base. Youthful Ted Kazanski, the regular shortstop, is Army-bound, that means Hamner will soon be back at short.

Torgeson, a big league hitter despite his disappointing 274 mark and only 11 homers last year, should handle first base adequately.

The catching will be divided among Smokey Burgess (292), Stan Lopata (239) and Mike Sandlock (231). Burgess, a satisfactory hitter, is no Campanella behind the bat. Lopata and Sandlock are weak stickmen.

Two thirds of the outfield is in excellent hands. Ashburn, a .330 hitter excelled by none in the field, starts his seventh straight season in centerfield. Emms, the power man of the club who smashed 29 home runs and drove in 125 runs last year, is a fixture in left. Mel Clark, nearly fully recovered from his knee operation, is slated to alternate with veteran Johnny Wyrostek in right.

With the exception of righthanders Murry Dickson and Johnny Lindell, purchased from the Pittsburgh Pirates, the pitching staff is the same as last year. Rookies Bob Greenwood (11-12) and John Sanford (14-13), up from Baltimore, have an outside chance to make the club.

NCAA Facing Squabble Over Football TV

KANSAS CITY (P)—It's a long time until the football season but the NCAA has a full-sized gridiron squabble on its hands today—over that old bugaboo television.

The NCAA TV Committee had no sooner come up with its recommendations for a nationally controlled TV football program next fall than the Big Ten conference balked.

The Big Ten TV Committee said its idea of nine regional and three nationwide telecasts of football games was better.

The NCAA plan calls for a national game-of-the-week telecast on 12 successive Saturdays, with regional TV games restricted to Thanksgiving Day. In addition, televising of sellout games would be banned as would panoramic programs in which brief views of several games are wrapped up in a single telecast.

The Big Ten plan also would permit a team to appear twice regionally or once nationally while the NCAA proposal would limit a team to a single appearance, whether on a regional or national basis.

The NCAA committee's recommendations will go into effect if approved by two thirds of NCAA members. A mail referendum already is in progress.

There were indications the Big Ten might split with the NCAA if the national program is approved but it also was reported the conference might go along in the final reckoning.

Lakers Are Favorites Against Syracuse

MINNEAPOLIS (P)—The Minneapolis Lakers, open defense of their NBA championship tonight against Syracuse, once regarded as a team of ragamuffins.

The odds labbed the habitual champion Lakers as firm favorites to win their sixth title in seven years in this best-of-seven final playoff.

Sports Roundup— Temptation to Pick Chicago White Sox to Win the Pennant

By GAYLE TALBOT
TAMPA (P)—There is a great temptation here to pick the Chicago White Sox to win in the American League this season, but we intend to resist it manfully for the reason that it would not be a completely honest pick. A man has to get honest sometime.

We have a strong feeling that Paul Richards and his go-go boys might beat out the Yanks this time if they get a few breaks. There is a big difference between that and having a betting conviction that the next World Series will be played partly at Comiskey Park.

Anyone who goes out on a limb for the Sox will be acclaimed quite an expert next fall if they do come romping in, and your reporter has longed for many years to be acclaimed an expert at something. But—and with keen regret—we're going to pass up the opportunity. You can't have looked at the Yanks in training the past few weeks and feel other than that Casey Stengel will scramble them to a sixth straight.

A couple of years ago it was different. We looked at the Cleveland Indians and arrived at a firm conclusion that they couldn't miss. The feeling here is that they've missed their chance and are not going anywhere except down. The White Sox, under an alert and vigorous administration, have become the challenging outfit.

For the Sox to win, several things would have to happen, and much as Richards is hoping for them to happen, and as hard as he is driving himself and his players in his burning desire to see Stengel, he still must know that he is asking a whole lot from the baseball gods.

Cronstedt Tops Champs Defending Gym Titles

CHICAGO (P)—Jean Cronstedt of Penn State tops a list of five individual champions who return to defend their titles in the national collegiate gymnastics meet Friday and Saturday at the University of Illinois.

Cronstedt last year won titles in the parallel bars and all-around events. Other champions returning are Don Haxlett, Iowa, trampolining; Bob Perry, UCLA, rope climb; Carlton Rintz, Michigan State, side horse, and James Sebo, Syracuse, tumbling.

Big Ten and Big Seven Conference schools will be well represented.

Cards Open First Game Of Eight With Chisox

COLUMBUS, Ga. (P)—The St. Louis Cardinals open the first of eight home-ward bound exhibition games with the Chicago White Sox today and Manager Eddie Stanky believes the trip will be a good education for his Redbirds.

The St. Louisans meet only one other team—their Houston, Tex., farm club—on the tour.

Stanky said yesterday the Sox should get the Cardinals used to speed and the use of surprise moves.

Pirates Hit 30 Home Runs, Pitcher Gets a Shutout

What's this? The Pittsburgh Pirates atop the Grapefruit League standings, hitting home runs all over the place and one of their pitchers tossing a shutout?

The Pirates have been riding along in high gear all spring and their sluggers have been hitting—but not even the most optimistic Buccaneer would have predicted that 23-year-old Bob Friend would whitewash the powerful Boston Red Sox.

That he did yesterday, with the Pirates taking the decision 3-0. He also became the first of Fred Haney's pitchers to go nine full innings. The Pirate flingers amassed a total of four shutouts all last season.

Friend, who has spent his entire major league career (three years) with the Pirates, gave up but three hits and walked only one. He also contributed a pair of singles.

The Chicago Cubs, with Coach Bob Scheffing at the helm, former Manager Phil Cavarretta in the stands and new pilot Stan Hack on the way, defeated the Baltimore Orioles 3-1. Johnny Klippstein pitched six shutout innings and Hank Sauer and Ernie Banks hit home runs. Joe Coleman went all the way for Baltimore, allowing six hits.

The Cleveland Indians beat the New York Giants 2-1. Old Sal Maguire continued to impress the West—winning camp followers by going five innings and being tapped for only one hit.

BOWLING Business Womens League

To begin with, he must expect to get the same great pitching from his twin aces, Billy Pierce and Virgil Trucks, that he got last season. Minnie Minoso must hit as well as he did last year when he pounded the ball at a .313 clip and was, in fact, the only real hitter the team had. Richards is banking on getting all this, and we'll concede for the sake of argument that he will get it.

Then, to close that 114-game gap which separated him from the Nanks on closing day, he must count upon finding another big winning pitcher, preferably a left-hander, and he must be assured that several of his hitters, particularly Ferris Fain, will make good comebacks at the plate. Speed and fancy base-running will not be enough.

There is great optimism among the Sox that they have found their added pitcher in Jack Harshman, the reformed first baseman who was a southpaw sensation in the Southern Assn. last season and in Puerto Rico this winter. Some think Harshman might win 18 or 20 games with the sharp defense he will have behind him. If he should, you will see a race.

King Louie Shirts Tie First Place Score In Bowling Congress

SEATTLE (P)—The King Louie Shirts team of Chicago electrified the 1934 American Bowling Congress late last night with a 2984 open team total that finally tied the first place score set on opening day of the tournament.

The Windy City legions put together games of 900, 998 and 1056 to amass a figure equal to that of the Wisconsin Bridge and Iron Works team of Milwaukee. The total surprised the experts—they had predicted there was little chance the Milwaukee team's mark would be equalled.

The shirtmen's final game total was the highest team score bowled in open division play in the current tournament.

Paul Krumske, anchor man on the Chicago five, led the pin-smashing with a run of 207-190-245-643.

The only other major change in the open division saw the Helm Tackle team of Detroit take over 10th place with a 2870 score. The only change in the booster division saw the Arden Ice Cream men of Auburn, Wash., take third place with a 2746 score.

Dock Strike Ends, Tugs Go Back to Duty

NEW YORK (AP)—Tugboats were back at work in New York harbor today following the government's first success in efforts to break up the 27-day dock strike.

Since last week tugs had refused to maneuver ships in sympathy with a strike called by the International Longshoremen's Assn. (ILA). The walkout flared up after six months of bitter competition between the independent union and the AFL-ILA for the right to represent dock workers.

The tugs returned to work yesterday after the National Labor Relations Board got a federal court order directing the ILA to stop picketing tugboats and to see that their ILA crews went back to work.

The court ruled the tug stoppage violated a Taft-Hartley law ban against secondary boycotts.

The pier strike spread to dockside warehouses yesterday when the ILA posted pickets outside the buildings. However, only about half the port's warehouses were picketed, and operators of those struck were expected to apply for a court order that would quickly end the walkout. They would base their request on the same grounds used in the case of the tugboats.

A back-to-work movement, mostly by nonstriking AFL men, continued yesterday. The New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission reported 4,142 men were on the job, 227 more than the day before. However, this was still less than a quarter of the number normally employed.

There were reports that the ILA was considering calling off the strike and issuing orders for its members to return to their jobs. Newspapers said the reports

Mrs. Lee Speaks Here Monday At Cerebral Palsy Meeting

Mrs. Laura Alice Lee, R.N., health nurse at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, will be the speaker Monday at 8 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the Courthouse. All parents of cerebral palsied children, all cerebral palsied adults and all civic-minded persons interested in the betterment of these exceptional children will find Mrs. Lee's talk of great value in the furthering of the C.P. program which has been started in Sedalia.

Mrs. Lee is a Missourian, born in Glasgow. She attended the St. John's School of Nursing in Tulsa, Okla. Upon receiving her cap, she attended George Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn., where she studied public health. She then came back to Missouri and went into the field as a county and district health nurse. It was then she became interested in cerebral palsy and while serving as city health nurse in Wichita, Kan., she studied CP at Wichita University. Again she gained experience in CP while working with the State Crippled Children's Service.

She is still studying toward the betterment of these exceptional children and is doing some news writing concerning CP and public health.

Mrs. Lee is a member of ICEC, has carried membership in UCEA of Greater Kansas City and is an active member of district, state and national associations of nurses. She is a past president of the District Nurses Association at St. Joseph, past secretary of District 4 of Springfield, Mo., and is now serving on the nominating committee of District No. 10.

In addition to her many experiences and abilities in the field of nursing, Mrs. Lee also is an outstanding public speaker. She has a dynamic personality coupled with wit and humor.

West's Big 3 Ease Up Sales To Soviet Bloc

LONDON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France have reached a compromise agreement to ease restrictions on the sale of strategic goods to the Soviet bloc in Europe while tightening up on products of definite war potential.

The Western Allies announced the agreement last night between U. S. foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen and top British and French officials at the end of a two-day conference.

The agreement marked an important compromise between growing European demands for more trade with Russia and her satellites and the continued desire of the United States to keep all strategic goods out of Communist hands.

The three powers ruled out any change in the present stiff restrictions on trade with Red China and North Korea.

A communique issued after the meeting said the three countries will open talks with their allies—the other NATO nations, West Germany and Japan—on revising the bans on trade with Russia "but narrowing substantially their scope and increasing their effectiveness."

The communique said the three allies will work for "an expansion of trade" with the Soviet bloc in Europe "compatible with security requirements."

Before heading back to Washington last night, Stassen told newsmen at the airport his government has "no objection at all to trade in peaceful goods with Russia."

"In fact," he said, "the United States wants to encourage as much of that trade as can be done."

Officials said the agreement will be a guide for detailed policies to be hammered out in talks in Washington, London and Paris.

Modest Slip In Business 'Good' for US

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The modest slip in business and industrial activity may be bitter-tasting medicine but it should do us good. That is the opinion of Jesse H. Jones, who will celebrate his 90th birthday Monday.

The onetime head of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., who lent billions to business, said in an interview:

"This dip hasn't gone far enough yet to hurt. It's a healthy thing and a little overdue."

Jones, who still sticks close to his job as builder, publisher and banker, said it's past time for America to climb off its stilts of boom and debt.

He thinks that if it doesn't, the economy may be heading for a sharper tumble.

One still—as the man who held federal posts under Presidents Wilson, Hoover and F. D. Roosevelt sees it—is the great boom in production for defense and for overseas allies and the building of industrial capacity to a level over and above what the American civilian economy needs.

The other still—as seen by one who is called "the greatest money lender of all time"—is the huge total of debt at all levels: government, corporate and personal. An economy striding too high on debt worries many others also.

"You can't go on forever spending more than your income without courting bankruptcy," Jones warns.

"I'm not an optimist for the country's economy as a whole, because its stilts are too high. We should come down a bit."

"Houston is better off now than some of the cities in the North," he says. "It probably will stay that way and not be as badly hurt, no matter how business goes nationally."

Texas count on the oil and gas industries, and a reasonably steady demand for their products, acting as a recession insulation. They say that their other industries are well diversified, and still growing.

Industrial production here is off perhaps 2 or 3 per cent from the peak, Jones estimates. This compares with a Federal Reserve Board estimate of 10 per cent drop for the entire country.

Retail trade here is off by 2 per cent, according to official figures, but Jones estimates the drop is closer to 4 per cent.

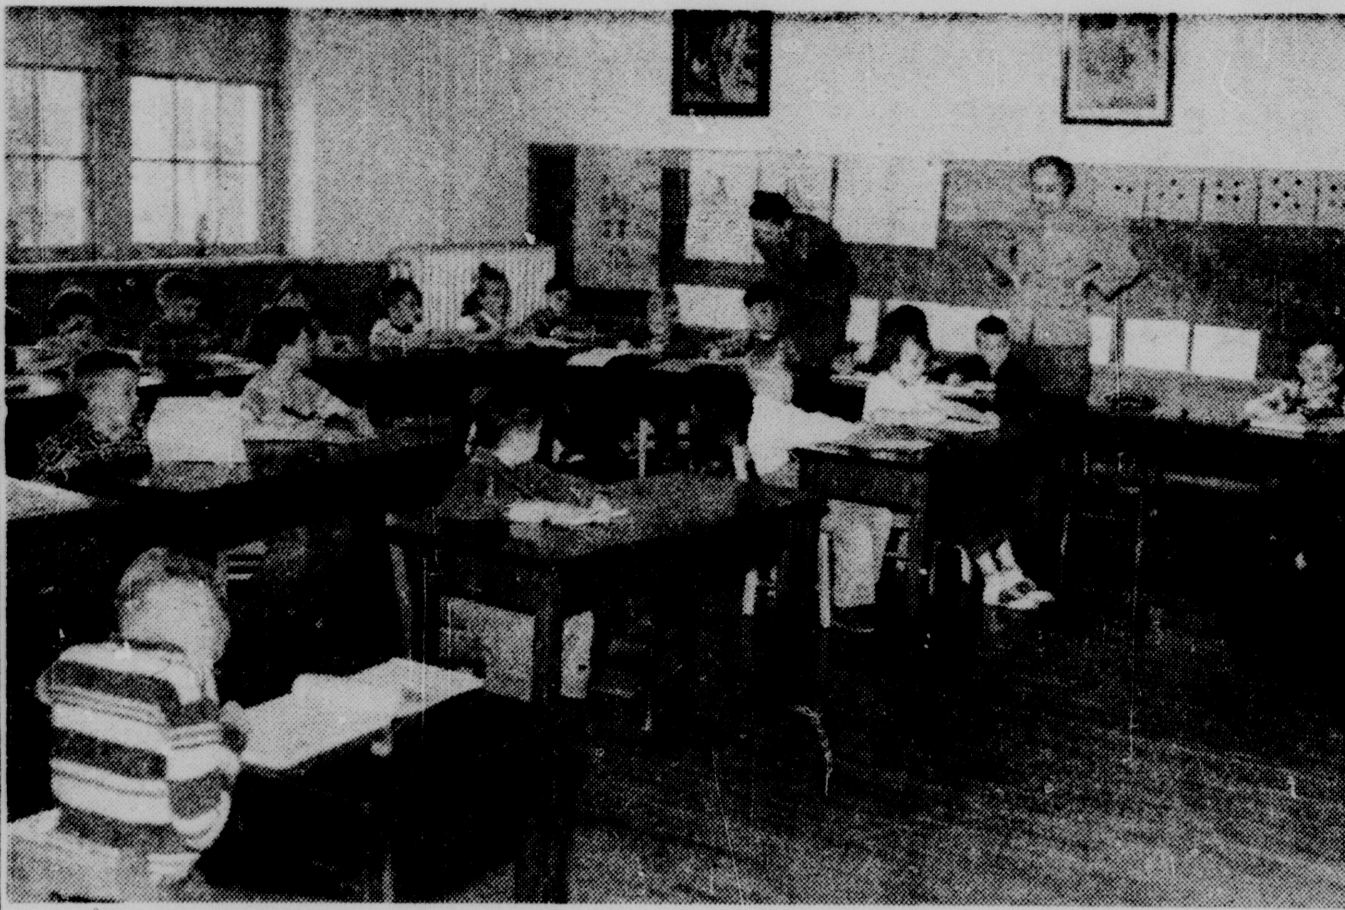

"It's caution, not a recession here," he says.

Customers are waiting to see what's coming. Soft good sales are holding up well. But there had been some drop in appliance purchases. This could be because consumers are waiting for promised excise tax cuts before buying. Better auto sales are reported in the last two weeks.

Commercial construction goes on. Home building picked up in March. But Jones shakes his head over the amount of government backed mortgages involved. There have been few defaults on loans so far, bankers here say, although collections have been poor on some loans made for repairs.

Industrial expansion plans are untroubled, but bankers believe that spending this year will be more for new equipment than for new factories. A lot of old tools must be junked, they reason, if firms are to stay competitive in a buyer's market.

Smith-Cotton High News—

Four Students Attend State Congress Held at Wm. Jewell

By Norman Griswold

Four members of the Smith-Cotton High School speech department journeyed by automobile to William Jewell College, Liberty, to participate in three days of student congress sessions.

The Smith-Cotton speech students attending the sessions were: Nancy Vaughan, Jack Isgur, Larry Lingle and Bernice Bacon. The group left Sedalia early on Thursday morning and arrived in Liberty at 9 a. m. After registration, they were in attendance at an address, which was given in the Brown gymnasium on the college campus.

At 9:30 a. m. the Student Congress, with the House of Representatives and the Senate, met in session. The morning's activities adjourned at 12 p. m. at which time the participants in the congress received lunch in the college cafeteria.

Thursday, almost the entire afternoon was spent in debate between the various members of the congress.

Thursday evening the group attended "Anthony and Cleopatra," which was presented by the William Jewell Players.

On Friday morning individual meetings of the House of Representatives and the Senate were held at 9 a. m. At 10:30 a. m., a joint meeting of the two houses than this time last year, but the raise in unemployment is not enough to be at all serious, Jones believes. Unskilled labor is affected most.

Drought has hurt badly, especially in the western part of Texas. Cotton farmers complain of lower prices and higher labor costs.

But the grocer says that in the last three weeks people have been better about paying their bills—and he's more optimistic now that Texas isn't in for a bad time.

Sedalian Attend United Cerebral Palsy Convention

The 1954 convention committee meeting of the United Cerebral Palsy Association met in the Hotel Statler in St. Louis Saturday, March 27. Those attending from Sedalia were Mrs. George West, state secretary; Mrs. Macy Moore and Dan Jarvis.

This was an all-day meeting in which policies and plans for national and regional meetings were discussed and names were submitted for officers for old and new committees.

In the afternoon the meeting of the various states was held, when time plans for work in the different states were talked over.

Hurst John, Columbia, president of the Missouri Association, attended the meeting.

Cerebral Palsy Group Holds Benefit Dance

The dance sponsored by the Cerebral Palsy Association for funds to carry on the work of helping to give cerebral palsied children a better chance in life, was held Friday night at Convention hall. The amount derived from the dance is not yet known, since some of those having tickets have not reported.

Music was furnished during the entire evening by the Midnight Ramblers, who donated their services. Members of the group are: Albert "Toke" Jonson, guitar; Walter "Buck" Williams, guitar; Leo Botcher, fiddle and Rosie Ellis, base fiddle.

The public address system was also donated for the dance by Cecil's.

Dan Jarvis was general chairman for the dance.

US Comptroller General Retires After 13 1-2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lindsay C. Warren, 64, comptroller general of the United States, retired today from his dismissal-proof job as the watchdog of Congress over federal spending.

He had served 13½ years of a controversy-laden 15-year term. Leaving because of physical disability, he will get his full $17,500 salary for life under an act signed by President Eisenhower last year.

Under his direction the General Accounting Office (GAO) has recovered for the taxpayers an estimated 915 million dollars of illegal or improper payments.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), has been named by many of his colleagues as a successor. Rep. Kilburn (R-NY), saying he was acting on behalf of the House Republican leadership, recently obtained the signatures of more than 200 House members on a letter urging Eisenhower to name Cole if Warren should resign.

Warren, although his appointment in 1940 followed eight successive terms as a Democratic representative from North Carolina, took pride in having hunted waste and inefficiency impartially in the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower administrations.

"In our work we have never pulled a punch regardless of who might be affected," he declared today in a letter to every member of the House and Senate. He recalled numerous attempts to curb or abolish GAO and added: "The GAO is your agency. To be worth its salt it must continue always to be independent, nonpartisan and nonpolitical."

Judge Confirms Old Belief About Appeal Of Jane Russell

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A court of law has now confirmed what most moviegoers have known for a long time: Jane Russell's "box office appeal was—and is—large," and she is "not a waste of corporate assets."

With this pronouncement Dist. Judge Frank McNamee dismissed yesterday a group of suits brought by minority stockholders against Howard Hughes, head of RKO studios.

Among stockholders' contentions was one that Hughes, discoverer of Miss Russell, wasted $100,000 of corporation assets by re-signing her in 1948.

Man Getting Millionth Auto Title Is 'Poor'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The state of Arizona tagged its one-millionth title on a new, expensive car bought by W. E. Poor.
